What does the 3G light on my microcell mean?

The green 3G light on your AT&T MicroCell indicates that it is acting as a network provider for your device instead of "AT&T" (as shown below). You may need to restart your cell phone for "AT&T MicroCell" or "AT&T M-Cell" to appear. Note: Some mobile devices will display items differently. Cell phones may take some time to switch to the MicroCell.

Will a 3G AT&T cell phone work with a microcell?

All 3G AT&T cell phones that receive wireless service from AT&T will work with the MicroCell if they are added online to the MicroCell's approved user list. You don't have to change anything on your phone.

Why is my AT&T MicroCell flashing green?

A flashing green light on your AT&T MicroCell is normal if it is connected using the 'I do not have a network' connection on page 9 or the Alternate Connection on page 17. This indicates that your computer is transferring data or the MicroCell is activating or downloading new software.

How do I connect a 3G modem to a microcell?

To connect a 3G modem to a microcell, follow these steps: Connect the existing Ethernet cable to the "Computer" port on your MicroCell (the other end should still be connected to your router). Connect the yellow Ethernet cable to the "Ethernet" port on your MicroCell and the Ethernet port on your modem. Wait up to 90 minutes for your 3G light to turn solid green before proceeding.
