Where can I find EnergySage reviews?

EnergySage, Google, Reviews.io, Reddit, and Yelp can all be good places to look for reviews. Just keep in mind that reviews don't always paint the complete picture. They often focus on extreme ends of the customer experience, whether that's good or bad. Check out some user reviews from verified EnergySage customers:

How can I reduce my energy use?

It is easy and free to turn off lights and home electronics when not in use, putting electronics such as our computers in sleep- or energy-saving mode, and using energy-efficient lighting such as LED light bulbs will also help to reduce our energy use (don't forget to turn off your computer monitor when you aren't using it!).

How can I reduce my energy bill?

This can be done by the use of skylighting or other daylighting systems that bring natural daylight into your home and reduce the use of artificial lighting. Some homeowners even have a greenhouse attached to their homes to reduce their heating bills during the cooler times of the year and have easy access to homegrown produce and herbs year-round.

How do I know if my home is energy efficient?

Most important is the "envelope" of your home, where you can have many energy leaks, such as through inefficient windows and doors, and insufficient insulation in your walls and your attic. Next, you should take a look at all of the appliances in your home to make sure that they are efficient.
