Is it possible to rent a luggage locker in London?

The Excess Baggage Company usually operates luggage storage in London. However, underground stations do not offer locker rental or any other kind of bag storage facility. Some tube stations are attached to main stations, such as Victoria station, where you can use their luggage storage.

Are luggage lockers a good option?

Yes, but they're not always the best option. Luggage lockers can fill up quickly and may be unavailable when you need them. Some luggage lockers may be too small to fit large or bulky items. Unlike luggage lockers, we don't charge per hour and instead charge a flat rate for 24 hours of storage.

Where can I find luggage lockers in London?

Look for the Left Luggage signs at the major stations in London to access storage lockers operated by the Excess Baggage Company. They offer luggage lockers in central London and beyond, as well as in London airports, including Heathrow, Gatwick and Stansted.

Do luggage lockers charge per hour?

Some luggage lockers may be too small to fit large or bulky items. Unlike luggage lockers, we don't charge per hour and instead charge a flat rate for 24 hours of storage. We also have partners who watch over your stuff to make sure it's safe, and can answer any questions you may have or give you advice on what to do in London.

Are luggage lockers expensive?

Luggage lockers, also called city lockers, are generally at least double as expensive daily compared to LuggageHero's luggage storage service. Until recently, travelers could only stow their bags in these luggage lockers, offering little flexibility regarding pricing, where to go, and luggage deposit.

Is Nannybag a good place to store luggage in London?

Nannybag is a good option for storing luggage in London, as they offer locations throughout the capital. Their flat rates are also attractive, especially for heavy or large items. At the time of writing, the rate is $6 per 24-hour period, making Nannybag an affordable choice.
